Any Peace Proposals Brought To Berlin Will Be "Closely Studied"

WELLES PROBABLY TO ARRIVE ON FRIDAY

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—Any peace propsals brought to Berlin by Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles will be "closely studied" by the German government, it was stated on high authority today.

But, a spokesman added, the American emissary will find on his arrival here Friday that "blind confidence in a German victory" over the Anglo-French allies overshadows everything else.

Gets Report From Mussolini

The German foreign office was believed to have received from Rome a full report on Welles' visits to Premier Mussolini and Italian Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano, with particular emphasis upon the attitude of Il Duce.

Authoritative circles said it could be assumed that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler was keenly interested in the reaction of his Fascist colleague to whatever message Welles may have brought from President Roosevelt and had taken steps to obtain full details.

Alexander Kirk, American charge d'affaires, today notified the foreign

British Admiralty Silent On Reports German Ships Sunk

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Loss of the 5,936-ton British steamer Clan Morrison, which struck a mine in the North Sea, was announced today as authorities indicated that Germany's submarine warfare appears to be waning.

One member of the Clan Morrison's crew was killed and 15 were injured when the mine exploded, authorities said.

At the same time it was stated officially that four British and three neutral merchant ships totalling 26,628 tons were sunk by enemy action during the week ending February 25.

This announcement said the burst of German U-boat activity appeared to have spent itself and that British warships prevented the scuttling of the German vessel Wahehe, which was brought into a British port.

Heavy Snowfall Again Is Noted

District Blanketed Under Fall Of Several Inches This Morning

Just when local residents were doing their utmost in wishful thinking to have winter go away, it bounced right back into their midst again with another heavy fall of snow.

Starting during the night, several inches of snow had fallen by midmorning, and indications pointed to the fall continuing throughout the day.

Traffic conditions were again bad, and city and highway forces had to go into action to clear streets and highways, and to ash curves and hills to make them safe for motorists.

Walking was treacherous this morning. The sun yesterday melted snow in many places causing the water to seep out onto sidewalks and into the street, forming ice as evening approached. These icy places were covered up by the snow this morning, and caused many falls and injuries. Motorists skidded about in the streets, but no serious accidents were reported late this morning.

There was no help promised from the weatherman, either, the forecast being warmer with rain or snow, tonight and tomorrow, with colder weather due to follow.

Taylor Presents His Credentials To Pope At Vatican Ceremony

By PERCY WIMER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME, Feb. 27.—Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's personal 'peace envoy' to the Vatican, presented his credentials to Pope Pius XII today in a cordial ceremony stripped of some of the usual formalities.

The private audience was held at the Vatican while diplomatic circles in Rome buzzed with speculation as to the nature of the "autographed message" American under secretary of state Sumner Welles yesterday handed to Premier Mussolini. Ignoring the excitement, Welles worked quietly at the United States embassy.

Last 35 Minutes

Taylor's audience with the Pontiff lasted 35 minutes. It began with Taylor handing over an "autographed letter" from President Roosevelt to his Holiness in which Taylor was formally presented as the American President's personal ambassador.

This, Vatican circles emphasized, did not constitute "formal diplomatic credentials." Formal speeches and other usual ceremonial details of the presentation of an envoy to the Pontiff did not take place.

At termination of the audience the Pope asked Taylor to convey his "affectionate wishes to President Roosevelt and the great American people, whom I am able personally and closely to appreciate."

Taylor left his hotel shortly after 10 a. m. accompanied by the Pope's secret chamberlain. He was greeted at the Vatican by Amory Matthews, the only American knight of the Cape and Sword and ushered into the small throne room, which was accepted by both American and Vatican quarters as the best scene for the audience.

The Pontiff was cordial during the audience and recalled with pleasure his trip to the United States, when he was a guest at Taylor's residence. He expressed fervent hopes for the success of Taylor's mission and expressed keen interest in Welles' European tour, regarding which he asked Taylor several questions.

Fund For Third Set Of Locks For Canal Cut Out

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 — In a surprise move the powerful house appropriations committee today balked at President Roosevelt's $14,150,000 budget request to start construction of a third set of locks for the Panama Canal, and struck it from the War Department's annual civl functions appropriation bill.

The committee refused to go farther than an allocation of $850,000 to start drawing up plans for the new national defense project, sought not only by miltary authorites but by commercial interests as well.

The action was disclosed as the committee favorably reported the civil functions supply bill totalling $203,472,567, money that will be expended mainly for rivers and harbors, and flood control projects.

The bill was $16,609,683 under Mr. Roosevelt's budget requests, bulk of the reduction being accounted for by the deletion of the Panama Canal construction item.

Disaster Almost Overtakes Hundreds Of Finns Comprising "Suicide Army"

By PETER DE HEMMER GUDME
International News Service Special Correspondent

HELSINKI, Feb. 27.—Now in possession of the strategic Koivisto forts, Soviet forces hammering toward Viborg prepared today for an advance across the ice of Viborg Bay in an attempt to reach the mainland and outflank hard-pressed Finnish positions.

Military information received in Helsinki indicated that the Finns had made all preparations to repel any such attack. The crossing of the ice from the Koivisto Islands to the mainland is held to be a comparatively easy undertaking, but observers believe that its mere simplicity may have the effect of placing untold thousands of Russian troops at the mercy of Finnish mainland guns.

Evacuate Communities

Communities west of Viborg were evacuated of civilians in the belief this area will be the next big battleground. Finnish coast defenses all along the bay were strengthened.

The Koivisto forts were abandoned over Saturday and Sunday. All guns incapable of transportation were destroyed. Those which could be dismantled were carried on skis across the ice.

Disaster almost overtook the hundreds of Finns comprising the "suicide army" of artillerists which for weeks held Koivisto against the invaders, when close to the mainland

Seek Roll Call Vote On Finnish Loan

Drive For Vote Starts In House

Rep. Hamilton Fish Directing Move Seeking Record Of Congress On Issue

HOUSE DEBATE NOW UNDER WAY

By GRIFFING BANCROFT, Jr.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—A determined drive to force a roll call vote in the house on a measure granting beleaguered Finland a direct, unrestricted loan of $20,000,000 was opened today.

If the move, led by Rep. Hamilton Fish of New York, ranking Republican on the house foreign affairs committee, proves successful the membership of the lower chamber would be forced to go on record for or against, direct aid to the little Baltic Republic.

Rep. Sol. Bloom (D), New York chairman of the foreign affairs committee, declared the roll call attempt would be ruled out on a point of order.

Fish countered with the announcement that he had garnered sufficient strength to force a roll call. He predicted that the house will vote the direct loan.

This development came as the house opened five hours debate on the senate-approved bill increasing the lending facilities of the import-export bank by $100,000,000—$20,000,000 of which is to go to Finland as a non-military loan.

The powerful rules committee after a stormy meeting, gave the measure legislative right of way and voted it to the floor with two amendments adopted previously by the banking and currency committee.

WELLES TO FIND NAZIS CONFIDENT OF WAR VICTORY

office that Welles would probably arrive Friday morning, although the exact hour depended upon transportation facilities available after the envoy's projected 24-hour stay in Switzerland.

To Remain Three Days

Welles is expected to remain here for three days. An elaborate reception program has been arranged for him. Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop will entertain him at a state dinner at the foreign office on Friday evening. Hitler and Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, the latter in his capacity as chief of the Nazi four year plan, will play hosts on Saturday.

One experience awaiting Welles is that of his first complete European blackout, for Berlin will remain cloaked in ebony every night while he is here. In addition, the American envoy is certain to hear a long list of Nazi Germany's grievances against the United States as well as England.

Wild Speculation

Neutral circles indulged in wild and unfounded speculations regarding the nature of Welles' mission, but the German government maintained an extraordinary reserve in the face of all peace rumors. This was regarded as an unencouraging if not a bad omen, and the impression gained ground that while Welles' reception will have an exterior warmth, behind it will stand Hitler's firm and unalterable determination to fight until England is defeated and a "Germanic peace" achieved.

One of the greatest stumbling blocks to success for Welles, if he actually is coming here as a peace envoy, lies in the whole problem of German-American relations which have steadily deteriorated during the past few years.

Welles is certain to discover in his talks with German officials that there is deep-seated German distrust of American diplomacy. Dating from the last war, this feeling has been heightened by anti-Nazi agitation in the United States, the American boycott of German goods, recall of ambassadors, failure to renew trade agreements and President Roosevelt's alleged "favoritism" toward the allies.

In view of these varied factors, there is without doubt a question in the official German mind at least as to whether American diplomacy is sincerely impartial or mainly interested in bringing about a situation favoring a peace on allied terms.

RUSSIAN FORCES PLAN TO ADVANCE OVER FROZEN BAY

with their heavy burdens of guns and ammunition, the ice suddenly parted, leaving an unbridgeable gap of water between them and the mainland.

However, a sudden sea current carried the ice floes together and the Finns were able to proceed to safety.

It was emphasized in Helsinki that loss of the Koivisto forts was comparatively unimportant.

"They did more than was expected of them at best," a spokesman said.

New Violent Battle

While the admitted loss of Koivisto fortress brought additional Soviet pressure upon the city of Viborg, Finland's weary defenders today slung grimly to their newly assumed second line positions in the Mannerheim line as they fought off continued Russian assaults.

While the war-weary Finnish forces kept up the struggle in the Carelian Isthmus, reports received via Kirkenes, Norway, told of a new violent battle raging in far northern Finland near Hoeyenjaervi.

Soviet planes were said to have engaged Finnish fighting craft for the first time in this sector since the war began. Heavy land fighting also was reported in progress.

Yesterday's indications that the Finns are preparing to abandon Viborg, the country's second city, to the invading Russians—but only after it has been reduced to "scorched earth cursed by God"—were supported by later reports that Finnish civilians were preparing to evacuate Sakkikaervi, opposite Viborg across Viborg Bay.

It was believed that this point will be cleared of all civilians who now are exposed to direct artillery bombardment as the Soviet pressure against the Viborg area increases.

Exchange Club Hears British World War Flier

Edgar Marsh Relates How Merchant Ships Were Protected In War

Edgar Marsh, a member of the British Royal Naval Air Force during the World War, vividly told how merchant ships were protected during the conflict, Monday evening, during the weekly dinner meeting of the New Castle Exchange club, held in the home of L. J. Lewis, 217 Clenmoore boulevard, president of the organization.

Marsh related how he had been attached to the Naval Air Station located at Pembroke, South Wales. "Twice each week, with nearly 60 vessels in the convoy, it was our duty to escort these cargoes both by surface craft and aircraft. I can recall many weary hours spent over the sea engaged in looking for what almost amounted to the 'little man that wasn't there.' It was standard practice to patrol the area for about 14 hours each day before returning to our base, only to refuel and start all over again, because the subs had been sighted in that area," Marsh said.

"There were occasions when wreckage would be sighted, sometime upturned lifeboats which in itself presented an unwritten story of the sea. Mines, both surface and submerged, were often sighted, and it was then our duty to either destroy them ourselves with our own machine gun fire or call by wireless for naval vessels to handle the situation. The biggest thrills were experienced when we actually sighted the wash of a periscope breaking the surface," Marsh pointed out.

Because military aerial tactics of today have been advanced to such a high degree of perfection in both equipment and personnel, it is hard to fully realize how we really 'muddled through' in the World War, he said.

Next Monday evening, Louis G. Genkinger, vice president, will entertain.

Celestial Treat Due Wednesday

Better Take Advantage Of Sky Show, May Not Occur Again For 1,000 Years

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 27—Step out under the stars just after sunset tomorrow night and you'll get a celestial treat today's living persons will never have again.

Over the western horizon the only five planets ever visible to the naked eye—Mercury, Jupiter, Venus, Saturn and Mars—will be strung upward in "perfect perpendicular formation" the Buhl planetarium pointed out. Weather permitting, you can see them tonight, too, but not in perfect vertical alignment.

Not until May 16, 2002 the planetarium explained, will these planets go into another "huddle." Sixty-two years hence they'll group in a "kite" formation. When they will again take this week's formation was not known—at least it won't be for hundreds, perhaps thousands of years.

Fastest Planes Ready For Army

Delivery Of Planes For U. S. Army Air Corps Will Be Started Soon

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.—Delivery of the fastest military planes in the world, constructed for the U. S. Army Air Corps, will begin shortly, Robert E. Gross, president of the Lockheed Aircraft company, said today. Top speed is more than 420 miles an hour.

The planes were accepted for army use after a trial flight a year ago in which Lieut. B. S. Kalsey flew one of them from March Field to Mitchell Field, Long Island in 7 hours, 45 minutes and 36 seconds, not far behind the transcontinental record of 7 hours, 28 minutes and 25 seconds.

A $10,000,000 order has been placed, and planes are being built on a production schedule which will assure delivery ahead of time.

tops of the skunk cabbage had forced their way through the muck for about one inch. It is almost unbelievable, the power the increasing sun exercises upon hibernating and growing things. The sap of trees run heavy during this mild spell, pussy willow buds cracked, so that bright green ridges could be seen through their heavy skin. Mr. Fox states that the buds on the sugar maple were showing quite red, on Friday.

reports of a naval engagement in the Arctic Ocean off Petsamo in which two German steamers were said to have been sunk or captured by allied warships.

British naval circles however commented that the reports of a naval battle off Petsamo were a "deliberate German attempt to obtain information as to whether or not there are British naval units in that area."

"It is not the intention of the admiralty to satisfy their curiosity," these sources added.

A Reuters Dispatch from Copenhagen said the harbor master at Vardoe, the northern-most point in Norway, declared he had seen no warships and heard no gunfire.

Unconfirmed Report

Likewise, the dispatch said, the Norwegian admiralty had received no news of a sea battle in the Petsamo area.

An International News Service dispatch from Copenhagen said that according to unconfirmed rumors there, a sea fight occurred off Petsamo between allied warships and German vessels.

One version of the incident was that the Anglo-French vessels had captured or sunk two German freighters.

A similar Copenhagen dispatch to the London News Chronicle said the reports of the supposed sea battle originated from Vardoe, northwest of the Finnish Petsamo fjord.

A different version was given in a Reuters dispatch from Oslo, which stated that nothing was known in the Norwegian capital of any naval battle between British and German warships in the Arctic.

Authoritative quarters in London were unable to provide any confirmation of a report that two German vessels had been sunk during an engagement in the Petsamo region.

At the same time, Churchill revealed that Scapa Flow has not been used as a naval base since a U-boat under command of Captain Guenther Prien threaded his way through mines, nets and other defenses and sent the battleship Royal Oak to the bottom.

It was early in December that the Nelson was damaged by a magnetic mine.

"She was able to return to harbor under her own steam," Churchill said, "and will soon be rejoining the fleet."

tack at some future date, although no bombs have been dropped thus far and the planes have appeared only in small observation units.

These flights are being made, a military spokesman said, in obvious retaliation for allied operations.

He said that groups of German aircraft—groups consisting of five or more planes from which there is danger of aerial bombardment—caused sporadic air raid alarms all over northern and central France from 9 o'clock last night to 6 a. m. today.

There was also considerable activity in the Paris region.

Just before dawn today an hour-long air raid warning was sounded in Paris but there were no developments. Eight hours earlier, however, French anti-aircraft guns and pursuit planes beat off two German planes which had penetrated the French capital.

AUSTRALIA SENDS US A MINISTER

WITH the arrival of Richard G. Casey, Australia for the first time has its own diplomatic representative in Washington. He is also the first Australian minister to any country. Our government is reciprocating by sending Consul General Gauss now at Shanghai, to Canberra.

Even before the war Australia was moving for closer commercial relations with the United States. Thanks to a last-minute amendment to the Neutrality Act, our ships are free to trade with her ports at present and new opportunities for business have opened.

The anticipated increased trade with South America has not materialized, but Australia offers markets which we have been neglecting. It is often remarked that Australians bear a special resemblance to Americans in their traits of individualism and initiative. In the World War these characteristics of their soldiers were particularly marked.

From all accounts, Australia could have sent us no more capable or tactful representative. His announced mission, to "seek American friendship without strings," will doubtless be reciprocated.

The various members of the British Commonwealth of Nations are now "on their own." Canada, the Irish Free State and the Union of South Africa have their ministers in Washington, and it is fitting that Australia should follow suit.

A GLEAMING CELESTIAL NECKLACE

The daisy chain of planets which is spread across the western skies these evenings is not, please believe, a publicity stunt for the Planetarium. It is a genuine and quite extraordinary spectacle, and even the bulbous-browed boys who trifle with galaxies and light-years with an air of tnnui are hopping to the lenses.

For the first time this century, five planets appear as evening stars and march, clear and radiant, in single file across the heavens. The nearest to the earth, Mercury, is 82,000,200 miles away, which makes it practically a next-door neighbor; Saturn is 919,400,000 miles distant, as the crow flies.

This all-star parade forms a gleaming celestial necklace, which will remain intact until next Wednesday evening. It is a strictly limited engagement, and the heavens won't again present such a show for the eyes of anyone now living.

So take a look westward and upward tonight, and so that you may appear to advantage when little Willie asks which star is which, make a mental note of the order of their appearance. From top to bottom it is Mars, Saturn, Venus, Jupiter and Mercury.

Just a little starry-eyed miss out for an evening stroll with four boy friends.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

APPEARS JAPAN IS BOGGING DOWN

Because of preoccupation with events in Europe, where the stage is being prepared for what the military people refer to rather ominously as a "complete" war, the world has been little aware of developments in China and of equally significant happenings in Japan. They indicate that Japan is in need of a quick peace.

At the beginning of the Chinese war, many military students predicted that China, notwithstanding its obvious military weaknesses, would prove unconquerable by reason of its size, its limitless manpower and the ability of its people and its troops to live with the utmost frugality. These predictions are apparently being fulfilled. The mere punitive expedition which was to have consumed not more than six months has become a great war running into years.

Of eight Japanese campaigns during the last year, only three met with a degree of success. Nominally, the Japanese occupy vast territory, but their small, far-flung garrisons are being whittled down by constant attacks and their manpower, munitions and other supplies are so depleted that new enterprises no longer can be initiated.

But this is only half of the story of Japan's multiplying anxieties. At home, under the pressure of lower living standards, the losses in killed and wounded and taxation, which amounts to confiscation, unrest is becoming constantly more widespread.

It may be that peace is not in sight and that there will be an indeterminate protraction of the "China incident." It is certain, however, that Japan is not destined to assume the status of a triumphant conqueror and it is even possible that the invader may be absorbed by the very vastness of China, as others have been throughout history.

The whole changed picture in the Far East is gratifying to the world in its suggestion of a severe, if not fatal, reversal for an aggressor nation, and particularly to the United States. For years there have been alarmists who have envisioned an early clash between Japan and the United States. It is now quite apparent that Japan has had its fill of war.

Baseball teams are opening the campaign in Florida, indicating that strawberries and cream are just around the corner.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HELP FOR SCHOOL LAGGARDS

WE HAVE considered the problem of the child who is graded at school on work done by parents. We saw it as destructive of self-reliance in the child.

But there are wholesome ways in which the parent might help the pupil and student who lags at school or who feels overwhelmed by the amount and difficulty of homework assignments.

The best way, of course, is to create a wholesome atmosphere at home in which the child will feel himself a worthy member of the family and hopeful about his school work. Parents also can help by cultivating in him good habits of mental work as soon as home assignments have begun, providing him a favorable place in which to study.

We can aid the child beyond the fifth or sixth grade by helping him improve his reading skill. If he lags in history, science or English, his lag is chiefly in reading. Even difficulties in arithmetic might result from difficulties in reading.

Bring Books Home

Let us encourage him to bring his textbooks home—or buy him a set for the home—so we can read aloud to him from his assignments in them. Since he reads poorly, these books are too hard for him to read well and with satisfaction. We can help him get the meaning as we read. We can encourage him to summarize the main parts in his own words. If he must make a book report, we might properly read a part of the book to him, or take turns at reading to each other.

Our main problem is to help him improve his reading skill while we also help him keep up with his regular work at school. To do so we will induce him to spend some time daily at reading for pleasure from materials much easier than his school books. It is well if he will choose to read aloud to us occasionally; better if he will read to a young child, say from three to six, to entertain this child. In doing so he will practice on very easy reading matter, enjoy success and gain eagerness to read more and enjoy still more success.

Also To Younger Child

This principle will apply also to the younger school child slow in reading. Perhaps no tutor could help a child in the second, third or fourth grade, say, to improve his reading so much as this child could help himself by reading to a child too young to go to school. The older child, while reading to this much younger child, thinks he is doing so to amuse the younger child. But he is also doing the best possible thing to improve his own reading skill. Then see the pleasure and profit to the young child who is read to.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

PRIMITIVE SOUTH AMERICANS

It took all sorts of Indians to make up the New World before the white man took it over! There are the Chunchos, living in aboriginal style on the eastern side of the Andes in Peru's montana, which contrary to its sound, means lowlands. These jungle Indians differ definitely from the Andean Indios. The latter dominated by the Incas, then by the Spaniards, are docile and a bit servile in mien, and usually small of stature. There's nothing subdued about their dress, however, for they wear gay colors—the beautifully patterned costumes and tinsel-trimmed hats in vogue in Inca times.

The jungle Indians, on the other hand, have had but limited contact with the outside world. They are very independent in manner, usually are tall and sturdy, yet dress in much more somber costumes than the Indios. They wear just a loose brown robe like a monk's. That's because the first clothes they ever saw were those worn by the missionaries. (The Conquistadores left the jungles to the religious order while they stayed on the Pacific side of the mountains where the gold-take was easy.) To this monk's robe, the Indians add, as color accessories, feather trimmed head gear, the red berry juice with which they paint their faces, and the strings of bright berries they wear 'round their necks.

One reason these tribes in the mountains have remained so primitive is that their villages—although some of them are less than four hundred miles from Lima—are shut off by mountains, jungles and forests, but within the past two years, new motor roads and airlines have been opened into the montana. Travelers visiting Lima now may visit this fascinatingly primitive region without great hardship.

March 12th Babies

As has been his custom for many years, the Hints and Dints Man will give Five Dollars to every baby born in Lawrence county on his birthday, March 12th, this year. Proof of birth must be in The News office before April 1st in the form of doctor's certificate or other substantial proof. Twins will get $15. Triplets $20 and we will give plenty to quints born on that day. We hope there will be lots of babies to claim the five dollars. This means only in Lawrence county and not all over the world.

This year the Hints and Dints man will be home from Florida in time for his birthday, he says. We think maybe there is some other reason for this than his birthday. He has a great granddaughter now.

A survey of the chief causes of human unpopularity would, I feel certain, put vulgar curiosity in the lead. And it is my experience that the snoopier such a malefactor happens to be the more she resents any prying into her own affairs.

The chief victims of these quidnuncs are girls of marriageable age and young brides. Every young man appearing upon the threshold of the former is a magnet that draws the long, sharp noses of the neighborhood to the window glass below the lowered shades or beside the drawn draperies. "Are you engaged, yet?" "When will the wedding be?" "What does your fiance do?" "He's much older than you, isn't he?" "Has he a good job?" No doubt you will raise a family?" and so on ad infinitum until this boor's victims cease being at home when she calls and later fail to recognize her in public places.

Readers' Questions Answered

Dear Miss Markel: My mother has remarried, so her surname is different from mine. We have not lived together since before my father's death, so of course my stepfather is practically a stranger to me. Just how should my wedding announcements read?—Aline.

Answer: "Mrs. Horace Jones has the honor to announce the marriage of her daughter, Mary Field," etc., etc. Ordinarily, the surname of the bride does not appear on an announcement, but in your case it must, since yours is different from your mother's.

Dear Miss Markel: Is it proper to pick up a chop bone to get that last morsel of meat from it? I say "yes" Betty says "no."—Art.

Answer: Betty is right. If you cannot get the last morsel with your knife and fork, you should forget it, unless you are at home, preferably alone.

REGARDING GARDENING

There's a song I would sing, from the heart of my striving,
For those who are ever, but never arriving;
For the many who cling to the hope that tomorrow
Will find them much stronger to cope with the sorrow
And stress and delay of a futile
today
In some easy, delightful, miraculous way.

The longer we wait for that moment of power
When all will be changed in a glorious hour
And make each fool trait or fond weakness subside
Before the assault of our conscience or pride,
The more, I'm afraid, we'll evade
the main factor
That character springs from the acts of the actor.

That hectic vexation once ending in laughter
May grow into broad-branching
"grouches" thereafter.
That duty postponed which at first
was a trifle
May spread till it seems all our purpose to stifle;
Each little indulgence, in life's garden, indeed,
Irritatingly often becomes a rank weed.

Those weeds in the Garden of Life!
How they flourish!
How daily we plant them; how gayly we nourish
Till, everywhere rife, all our paths
they entangle,
And cause us to struggle and wrangle and strangle.
Ensnared in a growth of our own idle starting
That keeps us continually kicking and smarting.

Yet, under the weeds are the seeds of a garden
As full of rare beauty as fabulous
Arden,
And all that it needs is persistent endeavor
To root out the rank growing upstarts forever—
Those weeds!—So, let's pull them with effort compelling
Till our Garden of Life is in beauty excelling.

What's What At A Glance

House Probes Fortune Tellers
Have Had Free Hand At Capital
Decree That Tricksters Must Go

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—THE HOUSE of representatives' District of Columbia committee is just starting an investigation of the activities of clairvoyants, fortune tellers, palmists and miscellaneously occult folk in Washington. Most city governments treat this crew pretty much as vagrants—chase 'em out of town in fact. The national capital however, never has interfered with them. Consequently they've done a land-office business for years on the District's bank of the Potomac. They range all the way from Gipsy crystal gazers to semi-scientists.

An investigation of 'em isn't governmentally important, but it's funny.

Such a congressional quiz was conducted several years ago, but it petered out without any definite steps having been taken to regulate the profession. Now another inquisition has been voted, under the chairmanship of Representative William T. Schulte of Indiana, to take up the work, for whatever it may amount to.

Harry Houdini

Before the last investigatorial body the late Harry Houdini was the outstanding witness. Houdini was a "wizard," a sleight-of-hand performer. But he laid no claim to supernatural power. He simply said he was a trickster. The others he denounced as mere fakers.

He told his story to that effect and left Washington. Then the regular necromancers cut loose. Houdini was needed back again, to rebut their testimony. The committee wired to him. He came. Seating himself in the witness chair, he flipped from his pocket, onto the table in front of him, a little wadded-up ball of yellow paper, with the remark, "I'll give $1,000 to any medium in this room who'll tell me what's on that paper."

"Why," answered Representative Frank R. Reid of the investigatorial group, "that's the telegram we sent to you, asking you to reappear before us." Houdini started violently. "I said," he exclaimed, "that I'd pay it to any "medium". "Well," instantly cried Reid, "I'm a medium. I always knew I had that occult power. Where's my $1,000?"

Reid never got his $1,000, but the incident spoiled that investigation.

Astrology

There was a celebrated astrologist in Washington—"Madame Marcia." She was in close touch with Mrs. William McKinley and professed to have forseen the McKinley assassination. Superstitious folk believed it. I knew her. She lived up on U street. She said she didn't much believe in spiritualism—the "spirits," she admitted, had a tendency to fool you. But the stars, she alleged, are infallible.

Professor Marcus Lamar, another professional, verged on being a genuine psychologist. He'd put on a spiritualistic performance if a customer insisted on it, but he much preferred to study an applicant's mentality and personality and then give his patrons the advice that he honestly believed best adapted to the latter's especial requirements. I once saw and heard him conducting one of these investigations. Upon its conclusion his visitor said, "Yes, but what'll I do?"

This fretted the professor. "How the heck," he exclaimed angrily, "do I know what you'll do? All I can tell you is what you OUGHT to do." There isn't much faking about that kind of business.

It's often stated that a good many congressmen are patrons of the capital's necromancers. I asked Professor Lamar if this was true. "One thousand times no," he rejoined. They're too sophisticated to believe in ghosts and too conceited to consult a really competent adviser."

Investigator Schulte

Representative William T. Schulte of Indiana is in charge of the impending inquiry.

Schulte will do a good job of it. He was a "magician" himself before he got into politics—a legitamate sleight-of-hand performer, like Houdini; a showman; not a bogus soothsayer. He's still a paid-up member of the International Alliance of Theatrical Employes.

"We're going to get rid of this bunk, legerdemain and alleged mind-reading in Washington," he promises. "It's been rampant too long already."

The last bunch of investigators' weakness was that they weren't well enough acquainted with the game they were trying to investigate. They couldn't see through the tricks that were played on them. The tricksters, however, can't put anything over on Bill Schulte.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

I remember that many years ago a clever Chicago newspaper reporter made a wonderful yarn about a scientific process that re-assembled the dust of William Shakespeare. The bard got a job on a Chicago newspaper and was assigned to cover a prizefight. Hiz Elizabethan tale of the clouting and the thwacking made quaint reading but then for some reason they had the scientists put William in reverse and send him back to his historic abiding place.

The lusty modernity of Chicago invites such dramatic contrasts. Here's a run-of-the-mill citizen, one William F. Gailing, who goes out into State street clad in shining knightly armor, to assail the dragons of municipal corruption. No longer can one say the Republicans never think up anything new. Mr. Gailing is a candidate for Republican committeeman. He had a beautiful scarlet and gold sash and a shining broadsword. He greatly impressed the street corner crowd which he harangued.

The harsh dissonance of Wagner's "Parsifal" has projected knighthood far down into our dragonless day—a day, however, in which, we still fight chimeras. Knighthood, of course, goes better in the world of eternal verieties, which is exactly what this one isn't, but we never had quite abandoned the idyll of virtue eternally triumphant. Such was Alfred Tennyson's placid Victorian world, behind the hawthorne hedges, as he wrote the Arthurian cycle and the nations moved in stately progress to the 'parliament of mankind".

Cervantes debunked knighthood in "Don Quixote", but did he really? There is epic tragedy in the scarecrow Don, on his sway-backed old Rosinante, tilting at windmills, followed by his dumb but faithful Sancho Panza. Sancho really had more sense than his master, making some shrewd decisions in his brief turn at governing his "island" clear, for once, of his master's romantic foolishness. But the tragedy remains. Don Quixote was a tatterdemalion warrior for a lost cause that won't stay lost.

Just as we started writing this, we caught on the radio Jeff Davis, he "King of the Hoboes", and his theme was "The Knights of the Road". That started thoughts of the "Knights of Labor", which grew into the American Federation of Labor, and of old Carl Brown, their Don Quixote. Old Carl had kidded himself into knightly demeanor. He was a dragon's slayer, if there ever was one, but kindly and patient, knowing that in due time the shining legions of labor would joust with their enemies and rout them handsomely. Carl grew old in a make-believe seat in the California Legislature, with the law-makers rendering him mock deference, as the lords gave Don Quixote, and following him to sleep in the Capitol basement. He died there, serenly, secure in his faith that a new Galahad of labor was at hand.

Edmund Burke said, in effect, chivalry was non-sense, and that the world progressed to the degree that it got rid of such foolishness. Both Napoleon and Machiavelli were ahead of him in that. There is no place for chivalry in Machiavelli's coldly cynical exposition of power politics, nor in Napoleon's ruthless re-ordering of world destiny.

It is interesting to note that the modern sovereign state is new in history and pressed forward just as

Rev. Thornton conducted the devotional period which opened the meeting Monday, and Rev. A. M. Stump gave the closing prayer. After committee reports and the forming of Holy Week plans, the clergymen heard a very interesting address by Rev. S. E. Irvine, on "The Church in America," which he gave the digest of an editorial that appeared under that caption in a well known magazine. The speaker was introduced by Rev. William V. McLean.

The Human Side Of The News

Machiavelli brilliantly enunciated his cold-blooded rubric of force and cunning. The high priest of European statesmanship exercised Machiavelli's teachings with bell, book and candle, and the grand panjandrums of the various states eagerly took every tip he gave them. The modern state is the result, and it is clearly observable that as the state rose, chivalry sank, as if they were on opposite ends of a teeter-tatter.

And Herbert Hoover is dead right when he says the world menace of today is hungry, insatiable, all-devouring stateism.

Chaucer's "very parfaith gentle knight" would get lost in the subway today and be forgotten. But if, perchance, he is reincarnate in the person of William F. Gailing of Chicago, we may pause a moment and remember that the man of chivalry had at least one loyalty that was more important to him than his life or his job. And he didn't mind sticking his neck out, even if he did encase it in chain-mail. Maybe more of us will have to practice this forgotten art before things get much better.

LATROBE, Pa., Feb. 27—The body of a 62-year-old maintenance worker—one of a pair of miners who were trapped in a flooded pit on Memorial Day, 1937—was removed today from the St. Vincent mine, near here.

Reclamation crews, meanwhile, continued their search for the second body as giant pumps, sucking water to the surface at the rate of 5,000 gallons a day, reduced the sulphuric lake to a depth of three feet.

The men—John Lane, 62, and Bernard Ransel, 51—had entered the mine to prepare for the next day's work. Suddenly, a 36-foot-wide pillar buckled and a rush of muddy water almost filled the 285-foot shaft. The fact that it was a holiday probably saved the lives of 150 other men.

Lane's body was found jammed in a mass of debris, perfectly preserved by the chemicals in the water. To recover it, reclamation crews have been working steadily since last April 4 and have pumped more than two billion gallons of water to the surface.

When the task is completed and the mine is dried out, four Greensburg coal companies will resume operations in the workings, providing employment for 1,000 men with an annual payroll in the nighborhood of $200,000.

The state is bearing most of the cost of rehabilitation of the mine which will probably be around $10,000. The legislature, during the Earle administration, approved the reclamation plans and Gov. Arthur H. James, shortly after he entered office, ordered the pumping to proceed, despite protests from the city of Pittsburgh that its streams would be polluted by the sulphuric water.

Mrs. Sturedevant gave a brief resume of the history of the Pennsylvania Parent-Teacher Association, which was organized in November, 1899, by Mrs. Frederick Schoff of Philadelphia. Radical Change Seen In Schools

No Wonder Youngsters Of Years Ago Didn't Care For School

BIG IMPROVEMENT IN METHODS TODAY

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Feb. 27.—If the youth of yester-year hated schooling, it was no wonder, according to Dr. Carroll D. Champlin, professor of education at the Pennsylvania State College.

Few things, he said, have undergone a more radical change in 100 years than the philosophy of education.

These are some of the contrasts, as outlined by the State College professor:

In 1640, many schools were merely concentration camps where children were spied upon and persecuted and where they were taught by schoolmasters who were tyrants and either too young and raw or too old and senile.

Before 1800, there were no scientifically evolved principles of procedure, and trial and error methods were used at the expense of the children.

The curriculum once consisted of the most readily avaiable, traditional subject matter, ill adapted to the nature, needs and capacities of the pupils.

School buildings were unattractive, unsafe, unstrategic sites with no comforts, many distractions, meager equipment, and uninspiring surroundings.

Contrasted with the present:

Today our curricula have been revised and brought up to date and determined with some consideration of community peculiarities.

Modern instructors and supervisors are vigorous and well-trained, and even janitors are chosen according to merit and efficiency.

No longer is there the deadly repetition and no longer are school days uninteresting. Psychology and sociology have put spirit into the school.

Today there are laboratories, workshops, gardens, auditoriums, playgrounds, music halls, and cafeterias, making our schools popular centers of culture and socialization.

French Press Hails Arrival Of Welles

Emphasizes That He Should See "German Treatment Of Small States

(International News Service)

PARIS, Feb. 27. — Arrival of American Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles in Europe on a fact-finding mission was hailed by the entire French press.

All the newspapers emphasized that he should see for himself the "German treatment of small states." The petit Parisien commented:

"After listening to Chancellor Hitler and his accomplices, Welles will have an inadequate notion of what Hitler intends to do in the regions considered vital living space unless the American representative is able to visit Warsaw, Prague and Vienna and there confer with other persons than officials."

The press also advised Welles to devote similar attention to Scandinavia. On this question excelsior stated:

"The first good action Welles could undertake would be to interest America more directly and widely in the welfare of Finland and Scandinavia."

Meanwhile the French commentator Pertinax said that he had found differences regarding peace aims in the recent speeches of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Britain and French Premier Edouard Daladier. Pertinax suggested a written accord between Britain and France on this subject "before seeds of misunderstanding are sown."

Department Of Interior Radio Division Accused

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The department of interior's radio division on Monday was accused of using dictator-like and "dishonest" propaganda broadcasts in a campaign for federal regulation of the oil industry.

The charge was made before the special house committee investigating the oil industry, by Russell B. Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum association and 21 other oil organizations.

He declared that the propaganda employed over the radio was so "plain" that the Columbia Broadcasting system discontinued the interior department's broadcasts and announced that it would, itself, prepare the scripts for any future government broadcasts.

EDITOR'S NOTE—Harry C. Butcher, vice-president of CBS in charge of the Washington office, denied that the interior department's program "What Price America" had been discontinued because of any dissatisfaction with its content. He said the program had run a full year and had been "very well received. "Previous committments by CBS forced its discontinuance for the present, he said. Program production by the CBS staff is in line with a new system-wide policy, he added, rather than because of any attempt to censor government programs, one of which is still being broadcast under the old plan.

Makes Accusations

Brown charged that Secretary of Interior Ickes' subordinates have been lobbying for federal control of the oil industry in defiance of the Hatch act and a law prohibiting federal employes from lobbying.

He asserted that Ickes' aides have used "false and fictitious" claims in their campaign.

Reading extracts from broadcasts made by the interior department, Brown flatly declared that they were dishonest. The department employed propaganda and sought to arouse "hysteria," he said. The broadcasts dealt largely with waste of oil and fear of exhaustion of resources, according to the witness.

"These broadcasts were dishonest," said Brown. "The arrangement of words—the inflection of voice—the melodramatic effects were all designed to create a false impression.

"Some European countries use this method to dominate a nation but this is something new in the United States."

He declared that such enactment of legislation for federal control would mean "bloodless revolution with the transfer of authority over our industrial life from free enterprise to government dictatorship."

Federal Income Tax In Nutshell

Deduction For Contributions

Charitable contributions and gifts made by an individual are deductible within limitations provided by the Internal Revenue Code. The organization to which the gift is made must meet several tests. The corporation, trust, community chest, fund, or foundation must be domestic organization and must be organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals; and if a substantial part of its activities is carrying on propaganda or otherwise attempting to influence legislation, it fails to pass the tests. No part of the organization's income may inure to the benefit of any private stockholder or individual.

Contributions made to a missionary fund, church building fund, or for the benefit of other activities of the church are deductible if the church is a domestic organization. Pew rents, assessments, and dues paid to churches are regarded as contributions. Gifts to a domestic corporation or domestic association organized or devoted to the advancement of learning are deductible.

Gifts to an individual are not deductible, but if made to a domestic charitable organization, as defined by the Internal Revenue Code, may be deducted even though the organization distributes funds among the individual beneficiaries.

Contributions made to the United States, any State or Territory or political subdivision thereof, such as a city or town or the District of Columbia, for exclusively public purposes are deductible; for example, a gift of real estate to a city to be used perpetually as a public park is deductible. Also allowable are contributions to the special fund for vocational rehabilitation, to post or organizations of war veterans and their auxiliaries in the United States, and to domestic fraternal societies, orders, or associations operating under the lodge system, if used for religious, scientific, educational, literary, or charitable purposes.

In general, the deduction is limited in the cases of individuals to 15 per cent of the net income, exclusive of the contributions.

Corporate contributions are deductible when made to or for the use of a domestic corporation, domestic trust, or domestic community chest, fund, or foundation which meets the same tests as those made for recipients of individual contributions, but in the case of contributions or gifts to a trust, chest, fund, or foundation, only if the contributions or gifts are to be used within the United States. Deduction of corporate contributions is limited to 5 per cent of the net income, exclusive of the contributions.

AROUND CITY HALL

Having written finis to tax assessment hearings, Mayor Charles B. Mayne and council colleagues soon will take a tour of the city to see what is being accomplished on city-WPA and other projects. Councilman David O. Davies, public safety director, stated today. Since the members assumed their law-making roles January 1, they have been largely concerned with tax matters because the former council did not pass the budget and failed to decide finally on assessments. This necessitated inspection tours by the council and Monday they closed the opportunity to appeal assessments and decided upon a tax levy of 11 mills.

So far as known council has not yet decided whether or not to plant seedings on vacant plots as suggested by the Hon. Judge W. Walter Braham. The city can obtain trees from the state. The full worth of the requested planting may not be seen for some years but in the end the value of the proposed project will be learned. Not so many years ago, or during the time Louis Genkinger was a member of council, a tree planting project was put thru. It has proved worthwhile.

John Haven, former chief of police and a candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor, visited police headquarters yesterday and was given a cordial recpetion. It was Haven, working under the jurisdiction of the present mayor, Charles B Mayne, who installed up-to-date police measures to combat crime, such as a police radio, photograph and fingerprint bureau, Gamewell police alarm system and cruiser car service. Haven is in the plastering business and has been going well since he left the service of the city.

Not many cases of contagion have been reported to health authorities this month, considering the amount of other illness said to exist here... As soon as April nears it is likely that Chauncey Davis, sanitary policeman, will wend his way to different parts of the city and order vacant lots cleared of refuse that may create contagion.

Storms, whether rain or snow costs the taxpayers a considerable amount of money each year. As an illustration it might be stated that the records of city council show the cost of the recent removal of snow was $1,071.20 for workers and $747.67 for trucks. Half of the $747.67, was paid back to the city to cover delinquent taxes. However, the job had to be done and it was. The ice is now being removed from the gutters so water bound to result from a thaw, will flow off.

It will not be necessary for autoists to pay parking fees to park for one-half hour in South Jefferson street between Market way and South street, according to instructions issued today by Police Chief Marion J. Young to Traffic Commissioner Thomas Jones. The heads have been removed from the standards. However, the 30 minute parking limit regulation will be enforced rigidly.

Would Create 'Key' Men To Battle Corruption

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Creation of a special organization of 10 "key" men to assist in the government's campaign against political corruption and major federal law violations was proposed Monday by Assistant Attorney General O. John Rogge.

Returning from Louisiana where he conducted the justice department's inquiry into the affairs of various state officials, Roggie is ready to place his plan before Attorney General Jackson at once.

Under his proposal, the department's criminal division would dispatch one "key" official to reach of the nation's 10 judicial circuits.

The duty of these officials would be to keep a continuous watch for major situations involving violations of federal statutes. They would report directly to the department on all criminal activities in the areas assigned to them.

Roggie feels this plan would enable the department to speed up federal law enforcement in all parts of the nation. In addition, the plan would render considerable assistance to the various U. S. district attorneys who are swamped with work in many of the federal jurisdictions.

While each judicial circuit covers several states, it is likely that 10 headquarters cities would be selected under Rogge's plan.

The headquarters cities probably will be drawn from a list including Portland, Me.; New York; Trenton, Wilmington, Del.; Philadelphia; Baltimore; New Orleans; Atlanta; Houston; Detroit; Columbus; Cleveland; Indianapolis; Chicago; Kansas City; Omaha; Albuquerque; Los Angeles, San Francisco and Denver.

Rogge will confer this week with the attorney general on the department's forthcoming inquiry into the affairs of an unidentified state which, the assistant attorney general said shortly before leaving Louisiana has been singled out for a federal "clean-up."

For the moment, the identity of this state is being kept secret, nevertheless, it was learned in authoritative quarters that the state slated to receive the department's attention is one of the following: Ohio, Michigan, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Illinois or Indiana.

Federal agents have been active in these areas periodically during the past year and considerable date has been gathered.

Lumber Again Important In Pennsylvania

State Regaining Reputation As Rich Producer Of Lumber, Says Tyrone Man

(International News Service)

TYRONE, Pa., Feb. 27.—Pennsylvania is rapidly regaining its far-flung reputation as a rich producer of lumber.

Its forests are richer than they were a half century ago, claims R. D. Tomkin, Tyrone wood-pulp expert, in spite of the fact that Keystone State pulp mills draw on this state for their entire timber supply.

Pennsylvania's forests will survive the constant drain of growing trees as long as only the ripe crop of trees is harvested, said Tonkin, who believes there are a great many more trees than existed 50 years ago.

Tonkin piloted the "Last Log Raft" down the Susquehanna river from the Clearfield district to the point just above Harrisburg where the raft journey met its tragic end. But the veteran woodsman was not aboard at the time the accident occurred.

The tree crop is cycled, as a potato crop is rotated after clover and other crops are grown. "For every big tree felled," added Tonkin, "half a dozen little ones get more sunshine and grow up faster."

This authority favors the farming of trees just as agricultural crops are planted and tended. Swiss and French forests are rich as they ever were after centuries of scientific and careful harvesting of ripe trees, he pointed out.

"If a tree is ripe it will soon rot and fall," said Tonkin. "It is better for a forest to have the ripe trees cut and converted into useful timber."

There are approximately 1,800,000 acres of publicly owned forests, and the ripe tree crop looms increasingly important.

Land not fit for farming will grow mighty forests, explained Tonkin, and timber croppers need larger trees than do pulp producers. It was estimated that over 60 years land will produce three crops of pulpwood to every crop of saw timber.

Years ago, it was recalled, gigantic masts for ships were produced in the Clearfield forests. The tallest ship mast ever floated down came from the Sinnemahoning region. It was 120 feet long.

Tonkin's home, "Eagles Repose," in the forest near Tyrone, is a veritable timber museum. In different rooms and for various purposes are Clearfield pine, Warren county hemlock, while the roof is Perry county Cedar shingles. One sleeping room is encased with Curwensville chestnut and another Blair county yellow popular.

Black walnut floors and all the ceilings were manufactured from wood pulp. Black cherry wood is also used in the structure.

Oppose Attempt Of Illinois To Take More Lake Water

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 — The petition of Illinois and the Chicago Sanitary District for a temporary increase in the amount of water diverted from Lake Michigan was assailed in a brief filed in the Supreme Court Monday by attorneys-general for six Great Lake states.

They charged that the Illinois petition would be another step in well-planned efforts to circumvent the decree of the Supreme Court which ordered a reduction in the water diverted from Lake Michigan to 1,500 cubic feet per second.

States opposing Illinois are Wisconsin, Minnesota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan and New York.

"We allege that a modification of the decree and temporary increase in the diversion from Lake Michigan is sought for the purposes of local sanitation and the development of water power by the state of Illinois," said the brief of the Great Lakes States.

"We deny that the secretary of war has any jurisdiction or any statutory or constitutional authority to modify the decree or quite independently of the decree to authorize the increased diversion requested by the petition."

Reveal Great Discovery About

CONSTIPATION

Tests at World-Famous Hospital Show How To Help Nature Produce Her Own Gentle, Complete "Daily" Bowel Action!

NEW YORK: Constipation sufferers rejoice! For now violent cathartics and laxatives and harsh "roughage" products, many of which are habit forming and are often irritating to bowel lining—can be avoided.

You can now actually help Nature produce her own gentle, complete "daily" bowel movements—thanks to the patient study of 16 Scientists.

You see if waste matter in the colon isn't kept moist it becomes hard, dry, caked and results in constipation. These scientists discovered that a "little daily dose" of Kruschen actually keeps this waste matter moist, soft and easy to expel. Also acts as a mild antacid and kidney diuretic.

There is no nausea, no griping, no violence with Kruschen. Hospital tests report: "Kruschen can be taken for years without having to increase the dose." Inexpensive! ! Only a trifle for a jar that lasts weeks. Over 245,000,000 jars of Kruschen have been sold thruout the world. Kruschen must do the work!

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

A PERSONAL STATEMENT

Much to my surprise, I have been upbraided in letters from strangers, for resigning from the board of guardians which is looking after the affairs of the quintuplets. There seems to be an idea abroad, in some minds at least, that I have somehow ceased to have the same degree of interest in the children and that their care isn't my chief interest in life any more.

Nothing could be farther from the truth. Actually, the reverse is the case. By resigning as one of the guardians, I gained more time to devote to the physical and mental welfare of the five children. In some respects they do not need as much of a doctor's attention now as they used to, in others they require more. They are growing up fast, they are becoming more sharply differentiated individuals every day and they need more attention as individuals to present needs and future wants. As for their future, I hope the time never comes when I do not have some share in the responsibility for their welfare and happiness.

Perhaps the present impression that I am not looking after the quins to the extent that I did in their first five and a half years arises from a misunderstanding of the dual role in which circumstances cast me until recently. I was first and foremost, the personal physician to the five. Then, when the youngsters were less than a year old, the board of guardians was reorganized and I was asked by the government of the province of Ontario to serve on the board with Judge J. A. Valin and the girls' father Oliva Dionne.

I wasn't any more desirous of serving on the board then than I am now, for I had enough to do looking after the children's physical being, without accepting a share of the financial worries then connected with them. Besides I knew that financial matters were not my strong suit. However, I finally agreed to serve on the board.

That was in the winter of 1935-36, and in those days the financial problems connected with the care of the quins were acute. It took a lot of money to run a hospital, and in those days the nursery really had to be a hospital. We needed money, and we were under all sorts of pressure to accept propositions entailing exploitation of the quins, but we proceeded cautiously. We turned down many opportunities to get money for the quins because we knew in our hearts that they weren't the right thing to do. We had no book of experience to go by and no precedent to guide us, and naturally some of our decisions laid us open to criticism by persons who didn't know all the facts and circumstances.

In the intervening five years we ironed out most of the financial problems and started building up the estate of the quins slowly. There have been fantastic stories that the quins are worth millions or will be worth millions. Well, I wish I could say these stories are based on fact. But you can accept this as official!: the quins are a long way from the first million.

Anyway, when the financial end of the guardianship got into good shape, I wanted to retire from the board. I talked about it for nearly two years before the government of Ontario saw fit to relieve me of this duty. Now that it has, I can devote more time to the quins' immediate needs. I think a much better arrangement now prevails.

The letters of criticism I got over my resignation from the board from all over the country were very revealing to me, even though the writers seemed to think I was deserting those children and was deserving of deepest resentment. They showed how greatly interested so many persons are in these dear little girls. The quins have come to be very close to the hearts of thousands of persons, and those letters were the very natural reaction to a misunderstanding.

Believe me, I will never desert the quins as long as they need me. And, as I said above, I hope the day never comes when they don't. We have been through too much together to be separated now.

A special registration day for West Pittsburg has been set for March 5. Registration Chief Clerk Charles Ross announced on Monday. The registration polls will be open from 10 in the morning until 3 and from 7 in the evening until 10.

It's a long cry until August but County Controller Frank W. Hill is pointing towards that month. The annual convention of the Association of County Controllers will be held in Beaver Falls. Mr. Hill is the state secretary of the organization and has the pleasant job of contacting every controller in the state.

John Benegasi, who failed to appear for sentence in sentence court Saturday morning, has been picked up on a process and is in the county jail. It is probable he will be there until Saturday morning sentence court.

That paragraph in this column some weeks ago about the county jail being in shape to take care of a lot of new customers seems to have travelled far. A friend of Deputy Paul Stark saw a notice of it in a Detroit paper. The enrollment is down again, there being only about 25 in the klink just now.

The tie that binds will be severed in a lot of cases Friday morning when the March divorce court will be held. There are a number of applications for divorce to be heard.

The action of the county commissioners in cutting the tax rate to 4½ mills got a flattering editorial from the Sharon Herald a few days ago. The editorial said Lawrence county had set an example for all of western Pennsylvania.

It will be a pleasure to work in the new office of the prothonotary and clerk of courts. The new cases are a pleasing shade of maroon and a floor covering of mottled green has been laid. Plenty of light from the big windows facing County Line street with a ceiling high enough to provide plenty of air space.

How to Make a Splendid Cough Remedy at Home

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of sugar syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you about four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough remedy. Promptly, you feel it taking hold. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen anything better for prompt and pleasing results.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 27.—Former Gov. George H. Earle and Mrs. Earle paid a visit to the state capital before leaving for Sofia, where Earle will take up his new post as U S. minister to Bulgaria. The former governor left for his new position with the best wishes of his many friends in the capital and throughout the state. Earle's eldest son, George H. Earle IV, or "Young George," as he was known at the Capitol, will act as his father's personal secretary. His salary will be paid by his parent.

Nominating blanks were taken out recently at the state elections bureau for a presidential candidate, delegates-at-large, district delegates and alternates. The petitions were being taken to Philadelphia, but the person applying for them refused to divulge in what candidate's interest they were being secured.

A second payment of $49,035 to Dauphin county to pay for the costs of the grand jury investigation into the Earle administration has brought the total amount of state funds paid out for that purpose to $78,916. That leaves a balance of $21,083 still to be paid out of the $100,000 fund voted by the legislature. The cost to the county is several thousand more than that and it is anticipated a new appropriation will be asked of the next session.

J. Twing Brooks, former Democratic liquor control board member, is reported considering running for his old post in congress in opposition to Rep. Robert J. Corbett, a Republican.

The mail carrier rings twice.

The diseases carrier rings not at all.

Carriers of typhoid are particularly dangerous.

They, themselves, do not suffer from the disease.

But they carry the germs to pass on to others.

Quite naturally, a carrier should not be a food handler.

Typhoid is often spread by way of food or water.

There are carriers of diphtheria and dysentery.

Also, of pneumonia, infantile paralysis and meningitis.

Sanitary measures have diminished many epidemics.

Yet carriers remain to contaminate food and water supplies.

No community is ever quite free of disease carriers.

Picketing Closes McKeesport Plant

Tin Plate Plant Is Closed For "An Indefinite Period" Result Of 'Dues' Picketing

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 27—The Port Vue plant of the McKeesport Tin Plate company was closed for "an indefinite period" today following dues picketing by combined forces of the C.I.O. Steel Workers Organizing committee.

Throughout the day yesterday the C.I.O. union dues collectors, 100 strong, blocked passage into the plant to all employes who had not paid up. Vice President and General Manager of the plant, Lawrence D. Smith, in announcing the shutdown refused to make any other comment.

It was believed only the watchmen and a small staff of maintenance workers remained in the plant. One unofficial source stated the dues pickets stopped not only employes of the tinplate departments but also coal miners and others.

Police and deputy sheriffs looked on throughout the day and there were no disorders. In the afternoon the picket lines dispersed of their own accord.

It was estimated that about 400 employes who were unable to show paid up union cards were turned away yesterday. This also included members of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

Correct Constipation Before—Not After!

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of emergency relief. Why let yourself suffer those dull lifeless days because of constipation, why bring on the need for emergency medicines, when there may be a far better way? That way is to KEEP regular by getting at the cause of the trouble.

If it's common constipation, due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, a pleasant, nutritious, ready-to-eat cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran—goes straight to the cause by supplying the "bulk" you need.

Eat this crunchy toasted cereal regularly, drink plenty of water, and see if you don't forget all about constipation. All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

Secret Inspection Made At Balboa

President Roosevelt Makes Visit To Pacific Defenses Of Canal

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BALBOA, C. Z., Feb. 27—Under conditions of the greatest secrecy, President Roosevelt disembarked from the U. S. S. Tuscaloosa, at Balboa today, inspected the Pacific defenses of the Panama canal, and then received prominent Panamanians.

Reporters and photographers were barred from Fort Amador, Fort Clayton, Camp Paraiso and Albrook field as Mr. Roosevelt and commanding General Van Voorhis made a motor tour of the definite positions.

Residential sections of Balboa and Panama City were avoided and only tight lines of soldiery were present to greet the president.

Planes carrying night running lights escorted the presidential convoy as it swung into the Pacific entrance to the canal at dawn, and full honors were accorded the president at Balboa docks.

Mr. Roosevelt avoided any show of political partiality by receiving the two Panama presidential candidates, Arnulfo Arias and Ricardo Alfaro separately. Leading American Army, Navy and civilian officials also greeted the president aboard the Tuscaloosa. He conferred with President Augusto Boyd of Panama and three members of the Panama cabinet during luncheon on problems of central American defense.

A final conference was held with Army and Navy officials as the Tuscaloosa proceeded to the Catun Locks, questions regarding strengtning the canal's defenses, growing out of Mr. Roosevelt's observations, were taken up.

Tonight the Tuscaloosa will head for the United States with the debarkation port expected to be Pensacoia, Miami, or Charleston.

Irene Castle Is Sued For $150,000 By Coast Milliner

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 27.—Irene Castle McLaughlin, the former dancer, was made defendant today in a $150,000 damage suit brought by Sonya Zaranof, Hollywood milliner, who alleged Miss Castle had made slanderous remarks about her hats.

"Her (Miss Zaranof's) hats are terrible," the complaint charged Miss Castle with declaring.

Since the former dancer is an authority on fashions, such a remark, the complaint related, caused Miss Zaranof great financial loss.

In her answer, Miss Castle stated Miss Zaranof was once employed by her to design hats and that when a business firm asked her as to the ability of Miss Zaranof, she rendered an honest opinion without ill will.

Akron Father Who Killed 2 Children And Shot Self, Dies

AKRON, O., Feb. 27.—Russell Faulk, 33, slayer of his two children, died here in City Hospital shortly before midnight Monday.

Faulk fired a bullet into his head early today after shooting to death his boy and girl and wounding a suitor of his divorced wife.

A jealous rage was blamed in the tragedy which took three lives, including Mary Jane Faulk, 2½, and Warren Faulk, 7. A double funeral for the children was arranged tonight for 3 p. m. Wednesday at the Sweeney chapel here.

Mrs. Faulk, divorced a year ago, related today how she and her exmate had had frequent quarrels over the custody of the boy.

A court had awarded custody to her, she said. The boy had been living with Faulk.

Faulk early Monday went to the rooms where Mrs. Faulk lived with her daughter and mother, taking Warren with him.

Armed with a small pistol, Faulk waited for Mrs. Faulk and Frank Bender, 39, of near-by Ira to return from a dance at which the Faulks had had words earlier.

Faulk shot Bender, killed the children and turned the gun on himself, police said.

Congressman Will Refuse To Answer Some Census Queries

Will Risk Jail — Asserts Some Of Census Questions Are Illegal

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—Rep. Daniel A. Reed and his wife today banded together in an effort to prove that "a man's home is his castle." The Reeds will risk jail rather than answer "snooping" questions by the census takers.

Confident that the census forms contain illegal questions, Reed declared that he would refuse to answer inquiries dealing with his private financial status.

He admitted that he is risking a possible $100 fine and 60-day jail sentence — the penalty carried in the census act of 1829 for refusal to answer questions applying to individuals and other familes. The 1940 census begins April 1.

Reed, veteran New York Republican legislator and one-time Cornell football hero, objected especially to questions in the proposed housing census relating to value of property, amount of mortgage payments, interest rates and other questions relating to income.

"I speak only for myself and wife," said Reed. "They have placed questions in the census which go beyond the authority granted by congress in enacting legislation for the taking of the census.

Tells Rotarians Of 'Hospitality House'

Father Rice, Youthful Pittsburgh Priest, Luncheon Speaker

Democracy rules at the St. Joseph's "House of Hospitality" in Pittsburgh, where upwards of 600 men sleep nightly—200 on the "reasonably warm" floor—and where "down-and-outers" of that metropolis find refuge day in and day out, the Rotary club was told yesterday by Rev. Fr. Charles Owen Rice, the 31-year-old priest who with the blessing of his bishop, gave up his parish duties to supervise the institution.

The Rotarians heard Father Rice tell all about his "refuge"—they marveled at the work it does.

"If necessary, the lowest can tell the highest where to head in," said the clergyman. "But that doesn't happen often—no one needs to do that."

Sixty of the 600 are provided jobs about the "hospitality center" itself handling laundry, cooking and other important duties.

Father Rice was introduced by Emanuel Shenkan, Rotary member. Special guests were Rev. Fr. V. V. Stancelewski, pastor of S. S. Philip and James' church, and Rev. Fr. Peter M. Schirra, pro-tem pastor at St. Joseph's church.

Twenty-Four Teams Enter Floor Tourney

Third Annual City - County Basketball Tourney Will Start Monday March 11

TWO DIVISIONS WILL BE RUN

Twenty-four basketball teams from all parts of Lawrence County met last night in the City Council chamber at City Hall with the executive committee of the City-County Basketball tourney. From all indications the tourney list may reach 30 at the next meeting to be held Monday March 4th. Anthony 'Tony' Conn, general chairman of the tourney conducted the meeting.

The fact that there will be two champions crowned this year Class A and Class B has proven an incentive for many teams to enter the tourney. This is the first year that Class B has been installed.

Plenty Of Teams

Following are the Class A teams at the meeting—Polish Falcons, Ellwood City Shelby Socials, Gersons, New Castle Boosters, K. Pulaskis, East Side All-Stars, and Bessemer Ex-High Stars. It is possible also that the Cozy Giants will enter the Class A division next week.

The following teams will appear in Class B—Penn Power, Ecclesian Club, Wabash Bears, St. Marys, Milton A. C., N. Y. A., Fannins, K. Pulaski Reserves, Falcon Reserves, Crusaders, Mustangs, Mt. Jackson Boosters, Junior Ex-High Stars, New Castle Indies, Gus Five, Booker T. Washington, Plaingroce Aces and Greek Orthodox.

Any other teams wanting to enter the tourney see or call either Sid Lockley at 3432 in the City Building or Charles "Bugs" Walther at the News 4000.

Chairman Conn announced that many lovely trophies have been secured and that the tourney plans are progressing very nicely.

Champs' Coach

JOHN EAGLESON

John Eagleson ranks as one of the top men in Class B. scholastic coaching circles.

The genial New Wilmington High coach has piloted his aggregations through three Class B. Lawrence County titles and two consecutive Section 20 coronets—all within the short period of six years.

Eagleson matriculated at Muskingum College, receiving his sheepskin in 1932. He began coaching the maniature Titans at the start of the 1934-35 season. A keen student of the game, Eagleson immediately installed his versatile system. Soon, it commenced to pay dividends.

In '36, New Wilmington became a member of the WPIAL. That year, the "Greyhounds" failed to grab the sectional toga. The following season, New Wilmington won the coveted title and marched to the finals, losing in the waning seconds to Monaca. The junior Titans recently annexed their second straight sectional coronet and are preparing to bid for the WPIAL laurels again.

Since he took over the reigns, Eagleson's teams have won 95 games and lost 42 for an imposing .690 mark.

Lombardi Signs Reds Contract

Sleeping Beauty Of 1939 World's Series Signs For Coming Year

CONNIE MACK PULLS REAL SURPRISE

By BILL CORUM
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Signor Ernesto Natali Lombardi, the sleeping beauty of Crosley Field, Cincinnati, signed his 1940 contract in Tampa yesterday. This was something of a surprise to us, as we had a feeling that the Signor probably was still snoozing on the old home plate. When we left him there after the last game of the world's series, it didn't look as though Ernesto had even left a call.

Connie Mack Surprises

Granting that the Yankees can be pretty discouraging and that the Reds weren't going anywhere in the series, it still was a slovenly exhibition on Signor Schnozz's part. If he was so worn out that he couldn't get back onto his feet while DiMaggio was running practically all the way from second base to the plate, Lombardi shouldn't have been out there on the field taking up room.

Schnozzola can make us forget, and certinly the Redland fans, by stepping out there this spring and pounding that potato in the style to which it has become accustomed when he is at the plate.

That's the beauty of baseball and the real text of today's treatise—that it is a bright, new deal when the ball boys gather in the spring. A new deal in which anything can happen, and many unexpected things do. Who would have dared to guess this time a year ago that Lou Gehrig would not be going south with the Yanks this spring, and that Benny McCoy would be a $45,000 beauty with the A's

Why a lot of people would have bet you that Connie Mack wouldn't give 45 g's for the Philadelphia city hall.

Depends On Dickey

The one thing certain about baseball is that there is nothing certain about it. And, some will add, that the Yankees will win the pennant. But even that "Axiom" will have to be proved by the exception to the rule one of these seasons.

The tell on the Yanks will come when a man named Dickey really starts to run down, or something happens to him. We trust nothing will, naturally. But the tall rock of Little Rock is McCarthy's Rock of Gibraltar. Or so I am convinced.

If, and when, it turns out that the mighty men of Manhattan can lose him and still go on winning, then there is no reason to believe that they'll ever lose one. In that case, they'll likely continue to win championships until they run out of baseballs.

"Greyhounds" Fit For West Newton

New Wilmington Bids For WPIAL Supremacy Thursday In Pittsburgh

GAME TO START AT 7:30 O'CLOCK

Physically fit for what looms as the sternest test of the season, New Wilmington high's cagers bid for Class B. WPIAL supremacy Thursday night, swishing nets with West Newton's versatile combination at the Pitt Stadium. The game will start at 7:30 o'clock.

The Section 20 standard bearers meet one of the strongest foes in the tournament. West Newton swept aside everything in Section 24 and then polished off Ligonier, 30-13, last Saturday, for the right to meet the Lawrence countians. The Hornets were so impressive that they immediately were tabbed as one of the favorites to haul away the scholastic diadem.

Johnny Eagleson, pilot of the junior Titans, was an interested spectator as West Newton pancaked Ligonier. Commenting about the game, Eagleson told all and sundry that his proteges will have to play spectacularly to mow down West Newton.

The localites, who marched to the finals last season, reached that spot by dumping West Newton in one of the closest affairs of the tourney. Needless to say, the Hornets are gunning for locals.

Meanwhile, Coach Eagleson is outlining a plan to halt West Newton's march. "Red" Lindauer, who proved a thorn in the path of New Wilmington last season, is a main cog. Scholl is another outstanding performer.

New Wilmington will go through two more drills before competing in the tourney. The "Greyhounds" will probably perform on Westminster's floor, principally, to become acclimated to a more spacious court. Pearson and Minner, who have scored 321 points between them, will play an important factor in the outcome of the clash. N. Borowicz, Wilson and Sharp will probably draw the biggest portion of the defensive end.

Tickets for the clash are on sale at the Sporting Goods Store, East Washington street, and at New Wilmington high. Admission price is 40 cents, provided tickets are purchased here. At the stadium, the ducats have a 75 cents price tag.

(No speech.)

This is not a stag party, so why not get your tickets now, and plan to attend. Tickets are available in New Castle, from Gaylord Hensley, secretary, James Cypher, and your writer. Please make your needs known as soon as possible as reservations will have to be in the hands of the chairman by March 4. . . . Don't forget Ellwood City, Elks club, March 8. Time, 6:30 p. m.

Fox hunters have certainly been kept on the run. Chasing ol' Reynard until he didn't know in which county to stop. First they run him out of Butler County into Lawrence County, then into Mercer County. There he was so tired out that they caught him with their bare hands. The other day the local group chased three fox into one den. With the excellent tracking snow, fox hunting has been the best in years.

Let's go Fishin'—Yes, Sir! That's what a certain fisherman asked me Saturday. Well, I like to fish, but my ice pick wasn't sharp enough to pick a hole in the ice, and I didn't have time to sharpen it at that time. Al Candiotto had an invite Sunday to go fishin' but he seemed to have the same trouble as I had. (No pick). Well, just walit till the snow blows off a bit, the people around the East Side, will be running around with fiddles because their barber will be out fishin' I know a lot of fishermen but I think Al is one from the first waters. He's so lazy he won't even sleep at at night, he'd rather go afishin'. His son Eddie, will be another chip off the ol' block (head.) Well, don't be surprised if you hear about us fishing before the ice leaves the streams.—More later in season.

Sunday several car loads of local sportsman parted for them thar hills, on a mission that will be worth a great deal, later in the season. This year our game has suffered more than ever before, as far as food conditions are concerned. It kills off as much game as an army of hunters do in one single day. Reports from the Commission for last year were that 60,000 deer starved and killed by cars out of regular deer season. Think of the sport this would afford many of us, in the deer country. But never-the-less every year deer, grouse, quail and many other species of our wild life perish, because of the lack of food. Perhaps nature has meant it that way, but it is a terrible death to die of starvation.

The Sportsmen's groups from the Southwestern division sponsored an airplane, to drop bombs of feed bags to the wild life. Bales of hay were also dropped to deer in the isolated areas. All wires except one were cut from the bales of hay, then dropped many hundred feet. When the bale struck the ground the one remaining wire would snap and the hay would scatter about the earth for the game to feed on. Our Boy Scout groups have done an honorable job in our game feeding program this year. Also our rural folks, mail carriers, Hi-Y clubs, Sportsmen's groups, and numerous other organizations interested in the welfare of our game.

Last week I told you of our visit to the game commission's office. This week I'll try to tell you what I can remember of the Fish Commissioner's office. Mr. French's office is located on the second floor, Mr. Turner tells us, "But you climb to the third floor." Well, you figure that one out, if you can, I told Frisbee, as we started to climb the stairs. The elevator girls had a convention, or sumpin' as the cars stood motionless on the first floor. (Minus operators.) We reached the third floor, and came to the office of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission. We arrived in time for lunch, as only the office boy was on hand to accept the Lawrence County (roamin') delegates. The first thing that I was interested in was Mr. French's office. Soon we were viewing the picture of fish, fishermen and pictures of little boys sitting along the banks of some stream fishing. Of course we didn't expect to see pictures of race horses, as Bing Crosby's office was in some other building in another city.

One picture that caught my eye, was a picture of several little boys fishing with willow poles along a stream. The picture must be at least 8 feet by 10, as near as I can guess. Just picture your home with a picture this size, hanging on the wall. Well—you just can't think of hunting or ice skating. Maybe that is Mr. French's inspiration. Trying to make this Commonwealth a better place to fish in for little tykes like those in his picture.

We next visited the office of the editor of the Angler. Here, like in the office of the Game News, were countless pictures of fish, fish and more fish. I really believed that some of the negatives were even stretched to the tearing point. These fishermen, what they won't do to have one bigger than the next fellow....It's like a story I heard about Rosie White. Before he was in capacity of Fish Warden he used to record all his catch to the nth degree. Scales that were perfect, tape measures, rulers and the like. When he would come home from a fishing trip, he would measure the fish carefully, weigh to the ounce, and all this he would record in his file of "Fish Caught." Soon he had a reputation of having made some nice catches. Some time later the stork visited his home in the early hour, and the doctor wanted to weigh the new baby but had forgotten to bring his scales along in his haste. Rosie, came dashing up from the cellar with his scale, and the doctor used it in the emergency. The baby weighed exactly 35 pounds ....See you next week, I hope.....

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

An illustration of how a man's past catches up to him just when he believes he may go places is seen in the shunting off the boxing card at Youngstown of Babe Orgavon, opponent to Tony Zale, February 29, and the booking of Enzo Iannozi, Italian middleweight champion in his place. It appears Zale knocked out the Babe in Chicago some months ago. Iannozi fought Ken Overlin several nights ago in Raleigh, N. C. He lost the decision but expects to give Zale, conqueror of Steve Hostak, a fight. Johnny Dean who lost a decision to Freddy Lenn of Pittsburgh will box Lenn again in the hope of evening the score.

Bobby Riggs, No. 1 tennnis player, defeated Herbert L. Bowman of New York 6-4, 8-6, in the National Indoor Singles championship tourney at New York ....Jimmy Demaret of Houstin, Texas, won the third annual $10,000 New Orleans Open golf tourney at New Orleans...

Gus Dorazio, of Philadelphia, defeated Harry Bobo of Pittsburgh, in a 10-round heavyweight boxing match last night in Pittsburgh. Bobo's best round was the fifth.... State College wrestlers defeated M. I. T. in a mat meet 38 to 16, at State college.

Pitt students have raised $700.00 toward a fund with which to build a testimonial to Dr. Jock Sutherland, their former coach, who will pilot the profession Dodgers of Brooklyn, next fall. The committee is headed by Emil Narick, football star.

With snow having covered the ground for the past two weeks and more falling today it would be a good idea to once again gather some food and place it in a shelter for the wild life. Grain, stale bread and other food will be welcomed by the denizens of the woods.

Tommy Farr has turned down an offer to fight Joe Louis in a return battle in New York this summer. He intends to try and enter the British Navy. Tommy has been in the service of Great Britain since hostilities got under way.

Pittsburgh Boxers Busy Last Night

Wargo And Eddie Zivic Win; Joseph Stopped At Portland, Me.

Pittsburgh boxers were busy last night. Johnny Wargo beat Ralph Griffin in a lightweight fight at Newark in eight rounds. Eddie Zivic drew with Joe Fontana at New York in a lightweight battle in eight rounds and Emil Joseph was knocked out in the sixth round by Paul Junior at Portland, Me., in a lightweight fight.

Eddie Brink, the Scranton welterweight, suffered a technical kayo at the hands of Mil Aron, Chicago, in the fifth round. Aron is the fighter who was down seven times then came back to knock out Fritzie Zivic in Chicago recently. Jimmy Vaugn, Cleveland, lost a decision to Irving Eldridge in eight rounds at New York, in a junior lightweight scrap.

Pastor-Savold Battle Friday

Winner Will Either Get Shot At Joe Louis Or Billy Conn, Jacobs Says

FIRST BIG TEST FOR LEE SAVOLD

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Even in the face of spirited competition from the usual horde of baseball players writhing in the throes of the holdout epidemic prevalent at this time each year, the pugilistic business continues to furnish the big black headlines around here these days with most of them bearing at least a faint trace of what the future holds for that eminent pacifist J. Dark Destroyer Louis. Hence today we look ahead with mixed emotions to approximately 10 o'clock next Friday evening when Bob Pastor will play the role of trial horse against one Lee Savold, a corn-fed belter from Des Moines, Iowa. It will be Savold's first fight of consequence in the east and, possibly, Pastor's last. He'd better win this one.

Will Meet Conn

The plans, according to Promoter Mike Jacobs, are, reading from left to right, for a match between Savold and Louis in June, if Savold can win this test. Inasmuch as Pastor has lost two starts to Louis—one on a 10 round decision, the other on an eleven round knockout—a victory for Pastor will qualify him for further trial-horsing in June, but not with Louis. His opponent would be Billy Conn, the light heavyweight champion, in an over-the-weight encounter.

The fight has taken on considerable importance all of a sudden, largely because of bearing it will have on future matches. It might be mentioned, too, that regardless of how Friday night's engagement goes, the eventual final chapter to all this must read the same, meaning that the winner undoubtedly will lose in the summer match for which the current one is serving as an elimination. Louis should knock Savold kicking and Conn would stab Pastor blind.

Date Of Game Is Moved Up To Wednesday

Franklin And Washington High Will Play Title Game Tomorrow Afternoon

The George Washington and Ben Franklin Junior High title basketball game originally set for Friday afternoon, has been moved up to Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Franklin High gym.

If the North Hillers win the game they will be the 1940 Junior High champs of New Castle but if Franklin wins, it will mean co-champions, as the league would then end in a tie.

The game will no doubt attract a lot of attention. The East Siders will be rarin' to go tomorrow. Earlier in the year the Washington High team beat them at the North Hill floor. The men of the East Side have sworn to avenge that defeat.

The lineup of both teams will find a galaxy of stars. Lee and Gunn are the big wigs on the Wash High team, along with Doster, Costa and Genkinger. Franklin High will depend on "Bill" Zubkowsky their star center, Fraser and Guinaugh.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Up to yesterday evening the street department had the snow and ice very well cleaned off in the downtown section . . . but now this morning it looks like maybe they will have to do the job over again. . . . Took a short spin out over the country side to see if the snow was still there . . . it sure is and in some places the road cuts through a drift six or seven feet deep. Some parts of the county are still so-called "snowed in." Walking is the only means of transportation and that is none too good in really deep snow. . . . While we are having all this snow we can think about those who went south to get away from it all and feel that they didn't get away from it all . . . when it's cold in the south you really notice it . . . their heating plants are none too good . . . so let's stay north where at least we know how to keep warm indoors.

One thing we can do after the snow has been cleaned from the walks in the evening . . . and that is to sit down and read the flower order books. Some mighty fine flowers are on the market this year. New roses, annuals and for those who like to putter around, some new fangled flowers that require a lot of attention, crosses between this and that. And still if that doesn't bring up your spirits we suggest you take a tour around to the local greenhouses and see the display of flowers they have on hand. It won't be long until Easter and flowers of spring will be on the local market . . . spring, ah you wonderful thing.

Tact . . . that is one quality that a man must have if he ever expects to amount to anything that his fellow citizens will respect. A man can rise to high places but unless he knows how to conduct himself he won't last long . . . those friends whom he needs will not tolerate ignorance of conduct. . . . Our lives, yours and mine, is much too short for us not to be polite to those with whom we come in contact. To be a gentleman, you don't have to wear kid gloves, just treat those around you courteously and you will find things will go along for you much better . . . you will feel better and all in all why shouldn't you be courteous. Remember you are only one generation out of a few odd thousand.

Minor Gains In Stock Market

Fluctuations In Price During Morning Trading Are Small However

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—The stock market today again failed to carry through on early rallying efforts. Minor gains slightly outnumbered equally small losses at midday.

Steels set the pace for the general market, turning mixed in the second hour after an early modest advance. Bethlehem dipped nearly a point before meeting support and U. S. Steel converted a small gain into a loss. Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Crucible held behind plus signs.

Goodrich featured on a climb of more than a point, reflecting the bullish earnings report for 1939. Other rubbers firmed in sympathy. Loft resumed its rise with a jump of better than a point in active dealings.

General Motors eased as Chrysler held above last night's close. General Electric, Westinghouse, Montgomery Ward and Consolidated Edison were higher, while Anaconda, International Harvester, Du Pont, Allied Chemical and American Telephone lost ground. Rails were improved.

VERMONT FUR SALES DIP

(International News Service)

MONTPELIER, Vt.—Fur sales in Vermont for 1939 were down to 100,408 compared with 136,929 in 1938, chiefly because of elimination of exports because of the war, importation of live animals for pelts from Canada and the increased number of ranch-raised mink.

Sports World Ramblings

Exactness personified — Ellwood City's Elks, who amalgamate their efforts to present an annual benefit boxing show, do things according to Hoyle. These genial citizens stop at nothing, so long as they attain exactness. Last Saturday night's production was staged in a manner that left us wondering. Could it be that Mike Jacobs had a hand in the pie? There was an unusually strong semblance that Yussel supervised. The 10 bouts were staged in clocklike fashion. The personality filled Ellwoodians spared nothing in bringing together the "400" of the simon pure league.

The Ellwood City high gym was nattily arranged, to borrow a society term which fits. The front row seats, for instance, were streamlined cushioned jobs such as you find at "21." The fistic proceedings were visible from all angles. The show was jammed with nerve tingling thrills, save for one dull affair, which is allotted to every show. Following the bouts, Jimmy Johnston played the role of host to fighters, managers and newspapermen. He literally shoveled a "million dollars" worth of choice foodstuffs, etc., on a huge table and sounded the dinner gong, in the Elks club. Johnston trailed his guests like a Sherlock Holmes, making sure they got enough of everything. The exactness of these Ellwoodians has no end.

From the picturesque campus of Slippery Rock college, Frank Dombroski, the ex-Hurricane gridder, drops a letter to your newsboy. He would like everyone to know that Merle "Red" McIntosh is carving quite a name for himself at Rocketland. Besides being a student, Red served as assistant coach in football and basketball. "He is popular with the student body as well as the faculty and will be sorely missed when he graduates this June. Red plans to enter Pitt university this summer," Dombroski writes.

Dombroski also sends a little "in-o" on John "Bull" Karcis, now a student at Slippery Rock. Karcis, a 235 pound bucking back de luxe, formerly lugged the pigskin for Carnegie Tech and currently is a member of the famous New York Giants of the professional circles. "Slippery Rock is a very sociable school and it makes you feel more like at home here. The prospects in football look good and it looks like another good year for Slippery Rock," is the way Karcis sizes up the situation. Lawrence Countians, we are sure, are happy to learn that the Rockets will continue where they left off last season.

More New Castleites Reach St. Petersburg

(By JAS. P. CALDWELL)

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27.—Latest arrivals here from New Castle are Mr. and Mrs. John Baer, Harry Alexander and Miss Sarah Markel. They came by auto, and Baer, who was driving, tried the "wrong way Corrigan act" at Duncansville, Pa., and as a result drove one hundred miles out of his way before he discovered his mistake.

At Miami they had more bad luck, some thief breaking into their parked car and stealing the overcoats of both Alexander and Baer. This was a serious loss as the cold winds down here occasionally make an overcoat quite acceptable.

While in Miami they saw a number of New Castle people, among them President Fred L. Rentz of the News company and Mrs. Rentz. Fred, they say, couldn't talk of much else but his first great-grandchild, Gretchen Ann Rentz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rentz. Mr. and Mrs. Rentz are very anxious to see the latest limb on the family tree.

The Baer-Alexander party arrived here during the past week. The Baers are visiting with Mr. Baer's brother, A. K. Baer, and sister, Mrs. William M. Houser, who are spending the winter at Gulfport, near here, where Mr. and Mrs. Harry Preston, also of New Castle, are located.

Among other New Castle arrivals are Mr. and Mrs. Graham Pierce, Mrs. R. A. Bailey, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. George Wagner.

I ran across a couple of native New Castleites here this week in the persons of W. McKee Kelley and J. H. Kelley. They are sons of the late W. M. Kelley, a former health officer of New Castle. Both have located here permanently, W. McKee Kelley being in the real estate business, and J. H. Kelley, a contractor. Both are doing well as real estate is active and there is an enormous amount of building.

One of the guests at the Beverly hotel where I am stopping showed me a copy of the Hunterdon County Democrat published at Flemington, N. J., which contained this item: "Announcement has been made by the Shenango Pottery company of New Castle, Pa., of the election of Jonathan Higgins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Judiah Higgins, of Flemington, as vice president of that company.

"Mr. and Mrs. Higgins will move from Westfield, N. J., to New Castle, where the company's plant is located and where Mr. Higgins will hereafter be employed. For the past five years he has been in charge of the New York sales office of the company."

St. Petersburg was enlivened during the weekend by the arrival of the advance guard of the New York Yankees, champions of the baseball field for four years. They began training at Higgins field this morning. The Yankees have trained here since 925 during which time they have won eight pennants and seven world championships, losing only one world series to the St. Louis Cardinals in 1926.

The St. Louis Cardinals will arrive here next Saturday and start training at Waterfront Park. Already on hand is Joe Medwick, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, who tried a new role today when he umpired a game between the Kids and Kubs and Kubs of the Three-Quarter Century club and a girls' team from the St. Petersburg high school. More than 5000 fans turned out at Waterfront Park to witness the game. The girls were too nimble for the old men and won by a score of 15 to 4.

The Yankees and Cardinals will open exhibition series at Waterfront Park, March 9, by playing six games with each other and twelve games with other major and minor league teams.

Medwick admitted here that he had not yet signed a contract with the Cardinals for 1940 but he has sent a contract to St. Louis in which he names his price, but which he refused to make known here. He expects to arrive at an agreement with managers this week.

If there are any New Castleites who are thinking of running for president, St. Petersburg is a good place to open a campaign. Recently, we had Senator Taft with us and on last Friday night, Frank E. Gannett of New York. He spoke in Williams' park to an audience of about 5000 comprising tourists from every state in the union. This is a good place to open a campaign as there are so many here from all sections of the country. The two newspapers here gave liberal space to the speeches of both candidates.

Some Reorganization Of Navy Suggested

Proposal Is Made To House Committee By Secretary Edison

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison submitted a program for limited reorganization of the navy to the house naval affairs committee Monday with the declaration that it would cut "red tape", save money and improve navy efficiency.

At the same time, Edison firmly opposed congressional proposals for enactment of a law directing a sweeping reorganization of the navy.

Edison proposed two major changes. They were:

1. Consolidation of bureau of construction and repair and bureau of engineering into a bureau of ships to direct all shipbuilding activities.

2. Establish an office of shore activity to direct the manufacturing and other non-military activity of the navy, which employs more than 100,000 civilians.

He also proposed that the chief of naval operations, the navy's top ranking officer, be given absolute jurisdiction over all military activities on shore. Under present law the chief of naval operations directs the fleet and is charged with making war plans.

Demand for consolidation of the bureau of construction and repair, and engineering, increased in congress as a result of revelation that the navy was forced to correct mistakes which resulted in building top heavy destroyers. Conflict between the two bureaus was frequently given as one of the reasons for the faulty construction.

Edison told the sub committee that the combination would save money, avoid duplication, eliminate conflict and result in better ships.

Different topics, which prove very interesting, are chosen by Father Lappan every Friday evening for his sermon subjects.

New Castle Center Is One Of Three Located In State

Other N. Y. A. Resident Work Centers For Girls At Shippensburg And West Chester

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 27.—Expansion of the National Youth Administration's resident work center program for girls in Pennsylvania was begun with acquisition of the large Hosfeld mansion in Shippensburg, it was announced by Walter S. Cowing, State NYA administrator.

This was described as the first in a series of moves to help girls to train themselves for work through courses combining actual work experience and supplementary training.

"This resident work center program," said Mr. Cowing, "provides places where from 40 to 90 girls between 18 and 25 can gather in one place to work, earn, and learn along specified lines. Centers are usually located near State Teachers colleges and the girls spend half their time in household service, waitress training, and the other half working on some public work project."

Qualifications for entry into the Shippensburg or other NYA centers are that the applicant be between 18 and 25, in good mental and physical health, and show a desire and need for the type of work and training offered.

For the past year NYA has operated three of these centers for girls located at New Castle, West Chester and Shippensburg. The quarters at Shippensburg previously could accommodate 22 girls, but with the Hosfeld mansion turned into a work center the capacity will be almost doubled.

Cowing said that new enrollees for this center would be selected upon a basis of need, ambition, and educational qualifications. The girls are paid $30 per month, $20 of which is returned for board, room, medical attention and other services. Transportation is given successful applicants from their home towns to the centers.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters intended for this column must be signed with name and address of writer.

"OH, WOULD SOME POWER, A LINCOLN GIVE US."

Dear Editor:

In this very troubled world, I relieve my daily thoughts and wonder in a placid manner just how that "Great Emancipator" could go about easing this world-wide friction.

It was some 75 years ago that "Abe" before a huge standing audience on the battlefield at Gettysburg stated "Four score and seven years ago."—Were "Honest Abe" with us today, his address to the nation (over the combined networks of all broadcasting systems) would most likely begin, "Two score one year ago, we—the people of the U. S. A., aided greatly in bringing to a close a war that was in a very ugly manner called 'the war to end all wars' but what should have been called 'the war to cause eternal unrest'." It wasn't exactly our choosing which drew us overseas—it was our strength, vast supplies and resources.

No God-fearing person or country will deliberately invite or declare war. All catastrophies to date have been caused by one individual who was ruled by avarice rather than by alms, deed and Amen."

In memoriam to the Great Lincoln it was written—"He had been born a destined work to do—and lived to do it." Until another is born with the same destiny, I fear this world-wide unrest will eternally be upon us.

Respectfully,
MRS. L. R. SAPPINGTON
714 Carlisle Street.
